HOW TO REGISTER

Given that participants will be actively engaged in writing with the intent of a publication at the end of the five days, there will be a limited registration for this workshop. This is a residential project and all participants are expected to stay at the Auberge so as to create a true writing community.

There is no registration fee for the workshop. Costs for travel and hotel accommodations are the responsibility of the school board or the school. There are substantial subsidies available for Boards/Associations. For details on how it applies to residential projects, please see the LCEEQ Cost Sharing Policy on the LCEEQ website.

Participants' feedback . . .

Linda Rief is a gift to education. In all my years of attending workshops, and that's many years, this was a 5+Star workshop. Linda's method, philosophy, is what we all need to teach our teachers to get any chance of reaching our students in getting them to write.

Linda is a master teacher. Invisible organization. It is excellent for teachers to experience the same expectations that they have of their students. It helps them see reality.

This has been a life changing experience for me. It was a real privilege to work with Linda, who is now a major role model for me of a teacher with an active creative life. I've been struggling to maintain my creative life while teaching since I first got into the classroom and now, I finally see a way to do it. I want to be a teacher just like Linda.

Thank you for this beautiful opportunity. I am so excited to go back to school to share my learning with my staff, to support them in giving students the enjoyment of writing.
